Here is a description of the symptoms, causes and treatment options by this problem. The ordinary kind of hair loss, called hereditary hair loss, can affect both men and women, but women are usually affected less than men. The condition is so common that it nearly can be regarded as a part of the normal aging process. The pattern of hair loss and baldness are different for men and women. On men special areas on the head begin get totally bald.

These areas are usually at both sides of the front, and the top back side of the head. The hair loss then progresses with these areas extending, and at last most of the head can be totally without hair. However, a great area in the neck uses buy laxa tea online in Australia remain unaffected and keeps a thick hair cover. The same is usually true about the area in front of each ear.

On women all the hair on the head begins thinning, and then gradually progress over the whole head for many years. Women seldom get totally bald areas on their head, but the hair often gets so thin that the scalp is clearly visible through the hair. The skin has there layers The outer layer, called epidermis, consists of epithelial cells. Under this buy laxa tea online in Australia the dermis consisting of connective tissue. At the bottom there is a layer called the hypodermis consisting mostly of fat cells.

The skin has narrow pores, hair follicles, extending from the surface down to the top of the sub-dermis, called hair follicles. A hair extend from a growth zone in the bottom of each buy laxa tea online in Australia follicle and out at the skin surface. By the common form of hair loss, a substance in the body, dihydroxy-testosterone DHT, gives a signal to the cells in the hair follicles that make these cells divide less so that the production of hair slows buy laxa tea online in Australia stops.

DHT is a metabolic product from testosterone, the male sex hormone. Also women have some amount of testosterone and DHT in their body, and therefore buy laxa tea online in Australia loss also affects women. Only cells that are susceptible to the influence from DHT will slow the growth process. This susceptibility is inherited from the parents by some individuals, and not by other. Follicle cells in the lower parts of the head are usually also resistant against the influence from DHT, and therefore these areas seldom get bald.

The effectiveness of hair growth will not only be affected by DHT. Other substances found in the tissue may give the cells signals to divide more, and nutrients like vitamins, minerals and essential fatty acids may make the growth process more effective. Some substances in the tissue may also block the DHT or ease the removal of this substance. Therefore all individuals susceptible to buy laxa tea online in Australia influence of DHT will not lose hair buy laxa tea online in Australia the same extent.

There exist pharmacological products on the market that can help against hair loss, but usually not 100 effectively. Medicines used to treat prostate hypertrophy also have been proven to stop hair loss and to get hair to regain, because these drugs block the substance DHT. Propecia is a prescription bound drug to take buy laxa tea online in Australia mouth based on an original prostate medicine. There buy laxa tea online in Australia many natural products on the market to help against hair loss.

buy Laxa tea online in Australia products often contain several substances working together by different principles. They may contain vitamins or minerals that are necessary for hair growth. Other substances give signals to the hair follicles to increase hair growth, buy laxa tea online in Australia example procyanidin B2. Some ingredients work as anti-oxidants that inhibit oxidative attack on the follicle cells, like L-arginine.

Some natural products also contain substances to block DHT. Saw palmetto extract contains substances acting as DHT blockers by much of the same mechanism as prostate medicines. Surgery is an effective treatment against baldness in limited areas. By surgery hair follicles from parts of the skull immune to DHT are moved to bold areas.
