Its estimated by medical professionals that as many as 20 - 30 million Americans suffer from acid reflux or as its becoming known - gastroesophageal reflux disease or GERD. Most of us have experienced it, especially after that spicy Italian sausage and pepper sub or even that piece of dense chocolate torte. For me it was drinking iced tea all day that caused me to have problems. So, for those of buy xalatan online in Australia with food related acid reflux its easy to know what foods to avoid so we dont have a problem.

We can take an over the counter antacid and obtain relief. For some of us however acid reflux becomes a chronic condition that over time can cause damage to the esophagus. When the damage to the esophagus occurs this is when acid reflux can cause serious medical problems. What buy xalatan online in Australia with chronic acid reflux is that the stomach acids that back flow from up into the esophagus buy xalatan online in Australia damage the lining of the esophagus.

This back up of acid can cause ulcers to form along the esophagus and can cause what is called Barretts esophagus which is when the normal esophageal cells are replaced with buy xalatan online in Australia cells. These abnormal cells have been associated with cancer of the esophagus. The question is what to do. Try the easiest path first. If you have occasional buy xalatan online in Australia reflux you can try observing what foods bring on the acid reflux.

Some medical professionals do buy xalatan online in Australia see any link between acid reflux and food at all. They believe that acid reflux occurs no matter what type of food you eat. This has not been my personal experience. I have found that avoiding combinations of foods does prevent my acid buy xalatan online in Australia from occurring. Keep a diary buy xalatan online in Australia what you have eaten when your acid buy xalatan online in Australia acts up. This way youll know what types of food to avoid.
